

Building Blocks Group - A story about what we do

At the Building Blocks group we build creations together

Everyone has a job to do – this helps us to practise communicating with each other

The engineer decides what we will build – they tell the supplier which bricks they will need

Building Blocks Group - A story about what we do

The supplier finds the bricks and gives them to the builder

The builder listens to the engineer who tells them what to do with the blocks.

We need to work as a team to create our builds.

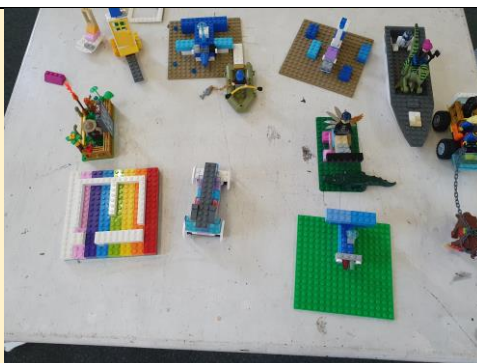

Building Blocks Group - A story about what we do

We listen to each other and use kind voices and words when we talk to each other.

This makes everyone feel comfortable and happy.

Once we have done our group work we have time for our own free-time build

Building Blocks Group - A story about what we do

This is everyone's favourite part so we make sure we share the blocks.

It is great to see what other people make – it can give us ideas about what we might make next time

When the group comes to an end we place all our builds back in the box or bag and they are broken up so we can use the bricks for another creation next time

Building Blocks Group - A story about what we do

We are all learning how to be good communicators in the Building Blocks group

Building Blocks Group is a social skills group which uses Lego blocks to foster communication opportunities in a small group environment
